Kentucky and Tennessee. VISIT OF JOHN J. CRITTENDEN TO THE HOME OF JOHN BELL!!

The People for the Constitution and the Union Forever!

Grand Demonstration in honor of the Noble Kentucky Patriot!

THE CAPITAL OF TENNESSEE IN A BLAZE

MAGNIFICENT RECEPTION! de de de de de

The public reception of Kentucky's noble and patriotic son, the Hon. Jon's J. CRITTENpen, by the Union party of this city yesterday, was the most splendid and imposing demonstration of the kind that has been witnessed in Tennessee for a quarter of a century. Almost the entire city seemed to have turned out en some with shouts, with music and with banners to pay a tribate of love, of reverence and of admiration to one of the wisest and greatest Statesmen of the time-one of the purest and most incorruptible patriots of the age. Such unquestionably is our venerable and distinguished visitor, and such was his welcome to the home of Jour Belt - a wel come such as the hero might receive when returning from the wars of his country erowned with laurels won in a hundred fights. The streets, the side-walks, the windows, the balconies, the watis, and every spot that afforded a standing place for man woman or child, were crowded with people, all eager to catch a glimpse of the glorious old Kentuckian whose voice has been lifted up for forty years in defense of truth, of right and of justice in the councils of the nation, and whose name adorns some of the brightest pages in the history of his country. The train in which Mr. CRITTENDEN came down reached the Depot at fifteen minutes past two o'clock. As he alighted from the cars, cheer after cheer rose from the vast concourse of people assembled to welcome him with open arms and warm hearts to the Capital of Tennessee. An open carriage, drawn by four white horses, gaily decorated with ribbons, was in readiness, and in this Mr. CRITTENDEN, Mr. and BELL, who had gone down to the Depot to join in welcoming his old friend and "companion in arms," were seated, with two other gentlemen, and the procession was formed for the march up town. In the following order:

1. The Bell Stars, a splendid military company from Murfreesboro, with band of music, under command of Capt. NEILL.

2. Mr. CRITTENDEN's carriage, drawn by four white horses, beautifully caparisoued. 3. A number of carriages in which rode RUSSEL HOUSTON, Esq., appointed to deliver the welcoming address, Hon. Horace May-NARD, of Knoxville, Hon. S. S. STANTON, and other distinguished gentlemen. 4. The Bell Graye, Capt. HINTON, with band

5. Horn's Silver Band, seated in their splendid band wagon, drawn by four horses.

with band of music. 7. The different Union Clubs of Nashville and Edgefield, and of the County, on foot-All together forming a procession of the most imposing description, and extending along the streets for half a mile. With the fluttering of flags, the waving of banners, the flashing of bright swords and bayonets in the sun, the glitter of gay uniforms, the roll of drums, the screaming of fifes, the softer music of silver instruments, and the prancing of steeds, and the measured tread of the vol-

"By Heaven, it was a goodly sight to see,

The procession moved up Market street to the Public Square, where another vast crowd had assembled to await the coming of the gallant Kentuckian, around the Public Square, passing Cedar, Deadcrick, College and Market streets, to the City Hotel, in front of which the immense mass of moving bumanity paused, when, after three long, loud and enthusiastic cheers for "John J. CRITTENDEN, of Kentucky," which seemed to "Rend the sear leaves from the trees

RUSSEL HOUSTON, Esq., on behalf of the Union men of Nashville and Edgefield, rose and addressed Mr. CEITTENDEN substantially

"We rejoice sir, to meet you as our honored guest. May your life be long and happy, as it has been useful and beneficial to your country. We all remember, with the liveliest emotions, your visit to us in the trying times of 40, and we thank you now, as we thanked you then, for your patriotic efforts in the cause of our common country. When you were so useful to us then, when peace and happiness pervaded the land-what may you not be, when greater perils now encompas us, and a sectionalism unprecedented, disturbs the quiet of the country. We long again to hear ony thirty-three stars singing together for joy, and united and happy. We believe that our National Union may be preserved by the assistance of Kentucky and Tennessee, and we welcome you, sir, as the distinguished representative of our sister State. You are welcome, thrice wel-come to our city and her hospitalities."

In reply Mr. CRITTENDEN said, in substance: "I tender you, sir, and this vast assemblage my acknowledgements for this cordial is a green spot in my memory. I well rememous time. May it be an augury of the success which awaits us now. From that victory we side of the river, had just such another time we may reap a handred fold. As you have said, sir, we are assailed at the present time | paign. on one side by sectionalism and upon the other by disunion. Our opponents are the enemies to the success of our nation and of its very existence. We must put them down or they will put us down. But we can triumph over them at last .-I am one of those who believe in the intelligence of the people and their capacity to by Serge govern themselves. I believe that they are adopted: swake to the dangers which threaten them and in their fidelity is the only remedy for the disastrons condition of the country .--When they are fully aware there is no danger, and all these threatening clouds will be swept away, for the ballot box is more effective than the catridge-box. We must vote against sectionalism in the North and sectionalism in the South, must pursue the middle path, called the golden way.'— You have alluded, sir, to Tennessee and Kentucky, as an assurance of the conervative feelings of the people. — I have long ago looked upon them as twin sisters—the first-born of the Government. It has long been a settled political maxim with

We do not report the speeches in full nor do we pretend to give the exact words of either speaker! The crowd was so dense that it was utterly impossible to catch all that was said. At the conclusion of the addresses, three cheers were given for Mr. CRITTENDEN and Kentucky, and for Mr. BELL. The three military companies then formed successively in front of the botel and fired salutes in bonor of Mr. CRITTENDEN; after which the larger part of the crowd having dispersed, they marched down to the Depot of the Tenn. & Ala. Railroad to receive the Union Guards from Columbia, and the Bell Rangers from Franklin, and escort them to their quarters, which was done in due form, the five companies presenting a long and imposing array. and creating quite a stir along the streets o'clock. through which they passed.

Among the many banners which were run up to lend edat to the reception, none appeared to greater advantage than those of the Union Clubs of the First and Third Wards, the former extending across Market street and the latter across Coilege. The first, a double flag with a white ground in the centre, bore on one side the following inscription : "FIRST WARD UNION CLUBS' WELCOME TO

CRITTENDEN. SAGE OF KENTUCKY, WE GREET THER WITH THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER." On the reverse side was painted a large bel-with the name of EVERETT beneath, and above, the words: "THE UNION, THE CONSTITUTION, AND THE LAWS," The banner of the Third Ward Club across College street, was a splendid one, bearing on one side the word-"KENTUCKY AND TENNESSEE. They won unfading laurels in fighting the foss of the Union abread: They will add another chaplet to their gloriour renown in the pending strogsie against the enemies of the Union at home " and on the other side: A HEART WARM WELCOME TO John J. Crittenden, The noble Kentucky Patriot and Defender of the Union, TO THE HOME OF John Bell, The Standard Bearer of the Union, the Constitution and the Laws. Liberty and Union now and forever one and inseparable.

We have given but a hasty and imperfect account of the reception, having neither time for space to do the occasion full justice. Having been welcomed to the city, Mr. CRITTENDEN retired and became the guest of

THE MILITARY FROM ABROAD. -At an early hour yesterday morning the roll of drums out Church to WATKINS GROVE. was heard upon the streets, and soon the Bell Highlanders and the Bell Grays were under arms, and at the bour for the arrival of the train from Chattanooga, marched down to receive the Bell Stars, a large and very showy company from Murfreesboro, commanded by Capt. NEILL. They were escorted up town, and took a prominent part in the reception of Mr. CRITTENDEN. Later in the afternoon they joined the Gravs and Highlanders in receiving at the Tennessee & Alabama R R. depot, the Union Guards from Columbia, and the Bell Rangers from Franklin. The former company is 6. The Bell Highlanders, Capt. CRENSHAW, commanded by Capt. A. M. Looney, and the latter by Capt. W. L. McConnico. They are composed of as gallant a set of boys as ever drew a sword or shouldered a musket. Their captains have not yet distinguished themselves in the profession of arms, but they have both won imperishable laurels upon the stump, and are ever ready to play either the soldier or the orator as the occasion sion may demand.

The five companies will join the procesto Watkins' Grove this morning.

THE THEATRE.-Don't fail to attend Theatre to-night. A splendid bill is up for the occasion, and the entertainment will be o the most interesting character. The bill embraces The Marble Heart, a song by Miss Novare who is a charming vocalist, and The Conjuga Lesson. Strangers in the city may secure a delightful evening by calling at the ticket 35" Mr. GLOVER of the Southern Express Co., informs us that the evening train for Springfield & Clarksville leaves at 12-30, instead 2-45. Persons wishing to forward goods by this company should have them a their office at Rains & Brown's Drug store, No. 19, Public Square, by 12 o'clock. Goods will be forwarded by them over the Tenn. & Ala. R. R. at 3 P. M. as usual.

FLAGS .- As every body will desire to decorate their equipage during the procession to-day, we would remind them, that by calling early at Luca's Emporium on Union St., they can be supplied with any style and size of Unoin flags they may wish. Let every Union man, woman and child procure one for the demonstration to-day.
